William A.
TORREY
PRESIDENT AND GENERAL MANAGER

When the New York Islanders ran into financial difficulties at the end of the 1977-78 season, President and General Manager Bill Torrey approached the situation in the same way he approached building the Islanders as a team—taking bold steps and assuming a positive attitude. Torrey has brought about the solid restructuring and refinancing of the Islanders so that the team can go forth this season on solid footing.

Much of the credit for the Islanders' success on the ice is the direct result of Torrey's decisions. In six years, Torrey has signed many outstanding draft picks and made some of the smartest trades in the business. Torrey has earned the respect and admiration of the hockey world for his commitments to youth and his blending of experience.

A native of Montreal and brought up in the shadow of the Forum, Torrey graduated from St. Lawrence University where he played varsity hockey. Stints as business manager for the Pittsburgh Hornets of the AHL and Vice President of the California Seals preceded his signing with the Islanders in 1972. While he was with the Seals, they rose from last place in their division to two consecutive playoff berths. Consequently, he was familiar with turning an expansion team into a Stanley Cup contender—a feat he has repeated by taking the Islanders from a team which once set all-time NHL lows into a true Stanley Cup contender. When he took over, Torrey said he would like to have the Islanders be contenders within five years. Not only has Torrey's plan been right on schedule, three of his teams have also made the Stanley Cup semi-finals and the 1977-78 Islanders won the Campbell Conference crown, another of Torrey's main goals for the team.

But, Bill Torrey won't be content until the Islanders win hockey's symbol of supremacy, the Stanley Cup. Continuing to move in that direction, the Isles signed John Tonelli who was the second selection of the club in the 1977 amateur draft and has played the past three seasons with the Houston Aeros of the WHA. In addition the Islanders signed high scoring center Steve Tambellini, who was the Islanders number one choice in this year's amateur draft. Tambellini played his junior hockey for the Lethbridge Broncos of the WCHL. Torrey also closely watches the progress of future Islanders on the club's Fort Worth farm team of the CHL and other minor league teams. To his satisfaction, Fort Worth won the CHL championship last year, led by former Islander player Bill MacMillan, who was named CHL Coach of the Year.

Regard for the future without neglect of the present is the combination Torrey believes will make the Islanders Stanley Cup winners in the very near future.

Alger J.
ARBOUR
COACH

Islander coach Al Arbour will remember the 1977-78 season as one of the most bittersweet in his long, successful career. During the regular season, Arbour led the Islanders to its best campaign ever, steering the six-year-old team to its first Patrick Division title while also winning the Campbell Conference crown for the first time and ending a four-year domination by the Philadelphia Flyers. The Islanders set 31 new individual and team records during their march to the top, including most wins (48), fewest losses (17), and most team points (111) for the third best record in the entire NHL.

But, Arbour's hope for the Islanders best playoff year were crushed in the quarter-finals as the Islanders lost to the Toronto Maple Leafs in seven hard-fought games, three of which were forced into overtime, including the seventh and final game at the Nassau Coliseum.

Known as a "defenseman's defenseman" during his playing career with the Detroit Red Wings, Toronto Maple Leafs, Chicago Black Hawks, and the St. Louis Blues, Arbour naturally concentrated on tightening up the Islanders defensive play when he took over the coaching reins in the 1973-74 season. The team responded by cutting their goals against by 100 goals and have maintained their reputation for being one of the stingiest teams in the goals against column ever since.

Arbour can be described as "the one who almost got away." After being offered the coaching job prior to the 1973-74 season, Arbour came close to turning it down because of his image of New York. But, a visit to the Island convinced him it was a far different world from the city itself, and he signed on. When the Islanders failed to make the playoffs that year, it was the first time in 19 seasons as a player and coach that Arbour had missed post-season play. But the hiatus was brief, and Arbour, THE HOCKEY NEWS' Coach of the Year in 1975, guided the Islanders to the Stanley Cup semi-finals for three years in a row. During those three years, the Islanders were beaten by the eventual Stanley Cup champions—the Philadelphia Flyers in 1975 and the Montreal Canadiens in 1976 and 1977. In fact, the Islanders were the only team able to beat the Canadiens in the 1976 and 1977 playoff competition.

The Islanders improvement since Al Arbour took over is evidence of his dedication and determination to coach a Stanley Cup winning team on Long Island.

BEHIND THE SCENES

Ron

WASKE

HEAD TRAINER

Jim

PICKARD

ASSISTANT TRAINER

One of the toughest and most demanding jobs in professional sports today is that of the trainers, and fortunately for the New York Islanders they have two of the most capable trainers in all of professional hockey. Working behind the scenes, they rarely receive the publicity they deserve. Both head trainer, Ron Waske, and his assistant, Jim Pickard, work together to keep the players healthy and properly prepared for the day-to-day grind of professional hockey.

The 30-year-old head trainer, Ron Waske, and the 28-year-old assistant trainer, Jim Pickard, are starting their fourth season together and provide the Islanders with the most respected pair of trainers in the NHL today.

Waske, a former college hockey player with a degree in Physical Education from St. Lawrence University, assumed the role of head trainer at the start of the 1974-75 season. A native of Canton, New York, Ron studied under the famed James "Doc" Littlejohn at St. Lawrence and has done an outstanding job in keeping the Islanders' injury record one of the lowest in the NHL.

Prior to his joining the Islanders, Waske received his professional hockey training working with the Jacksonville Barons of the AHL. Ron, who was elected secretary-treasurer of the Professional Hockey Trainers Association, was named co-trainer of the Campbell Conference at the 1978 All-Star Classic in Buffalo.

Ron, his wife, Peg, and his daughter, Amy, relaxed over the summer in their new Long Island home and vacationed on the Jersey shore.

Jim Pickard, who broke into the NHL as the equipment manager of the California Golden Seals under the tutelage of then Executive Vice President Bill Torrey, has been with the Islanders since their inception, except to enter private business in the 1973-74 season. In addition to assisting Ron Waske with the injured players, "Pick" is primarily responsible for the daily equipment needs of the players.

The Pickards, Jim, his wife, Sue, and their three children, Lori, Ben, and Mary Beth, spent the summer on Long Island relaxing in their new home. In addition Pickard helped out at the Racquet & Rink summer hockey school, keeping the youngsters fit and healthy during their training.

Defense. Shoots left.
6'2", 205 lbs.
Last amateur club:
Saskatoon Blades (Jrs.)

NY Islanders 2nd choice, 33rd overall, in 1973 Amateur Draft.

One of the most valuable members of the New York Islanders defensive corps and often overlooked because of his steady style of play is dependable Dave Lewis... "Big Lewie" was 33rd player drafted in the 1973 amateur lottery and made the jump directly from junior hockey to the Islanders defensive corps... Former defensive partner of Islanders Pat Price and Rangers' Larry Sacharuk with Saskatoon of the WCHL... Defensive-minded Dave teams with offensive defenseman Denis Potvin to form one of the most effective pairings in the NHL... Posted a game winning goal in Los Angeles for an Islanders 4-3 victory on December 28 and a shorthanded goal against the Rangers in a 7-2 victory in October at the Nassau Coliseum... Still holds the club record for most penalty minutes in a single playoff game with 25 against Buffalo in 1976... "Big Lewie" has appeared in 373 Islander games with 14 goals and 83 assists for 97 points and 4 career game winning goals... An excellent all-around athlete, Lewis was quarterback on his high school football team that included pass-catching end Bob Bourne... Coach Al Arbour can always count on Dave to be covering the offensive forwards in front of the Islanders net... Married to the former Brenda Atwell in 1976 by Father Bitsko... The Lewises became the proud parents of their first son, Ryan Patrick, in March of 1977...

Drafted by Islanders in 14th round, 214th overall, in 1974 Amateur Draft.

Swedish imports are all the rage this season, but the Islanders acquisition of defenseman Stefan Persson last summer was one of the most successful moves made by General Manager Bill Torrey and Coach Al Arbour since the club's inception...The former All-Star defenseman with Brynas I.F. of the Swedish Hockey League followed in the footsteps of his predecessor, Borje Salming, and was a member of the Swedish National team at the World Championships in Vienna in 1977...Received the award as top defenseman in Sweden in 1977...A defensive styled defenseman, Persson still managed to set a new NHL record for assists by a rookie defenseman (50), shattering the old mark of 42 set by Dale Tallon of Vancouver in 1970-71...Paired with partner Denis Potvin on the Islanders power play...Worked the right point and posted 6 goals and 50 assists for 56 points along with 3 power play goals this season...Although not noted as a physical defenseman, Persson still managed to utilize his 6'1", 190 lb. frame to ride opposition forwards into the corners...Somewhat shy because of his new surroundings, Persson still fit in well with the Islanders and enjoyed his first professional season in the NHL...Stefan and his wife, Ulla, purchased a home on Long Island's north shore where they live with their daughter, Terese, and Stefan's brother-in-law, Krista...During the summer, Stefan and Ulla returned to Sweden where Stefan worked on his physical conditioning program to strengthen his upper body...Missed 11 games with a broken nose when crosschecked by Brad Gassoff in Vancouver...Stefan was the Islanders 14th draft pick in the 1974 amateur lottery and signed along with goaltender Goran Hogosta in June of 1977...

Detroit's 4th choice, 63rd overall, in 1974 Amateur Draft.

Acquired by the Islanders on October 10 in exchange for Andre St. Laurent... "Bergee" was Detroit's fourth choice in the 1974 amateur draft... Seeing action in only 25 games, Michel still managed to score 9 goals and 6 assists for 15 points... First appearance in an Islanders uniform was October 22 versus the New York Rangers when he scored 2 goals in the Islanders' 7-2 rout... As a rookie with Detroit, Bergeron posted 32 goals and set a new Red Wing rookie scoring record, breaking Tommy Webster's old mark of 31 set in 1970-71... Posted 2 career hat tricks with Detroit and one four-goal game in his first season as a Red Wing... Posted game winning goals against Colorado and the New York Rangers and a game tying goal against Cleveland this past season... A back injury forced Bergeron to miss more than a month of playing time... Possesses a strong wrist shot and a deadly goal scoring touch around the net... Bergeron needs to work on his defensive skills before he can play full time on the Islanders... A scratch golfer and an excellent tennis player, Bergeron and his wife, Nicole, have purchased a new home on the north shore of Long Island... "Bergee" spent the summer working out at Racquet & Rink in preparation for next season and pitched for the Islanders softball team in their summer exhibition games...
